Slaughter Pig Marketing Summary

(Ref Weekly Tribune)

| This week |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Buoyed by the substantial lift in the SPP – up 3.2p to 141.71p, some of the majors continued the momentum, adding 5p to their contract contributions. The market was therefore somewhat taken aback by some processors standing on, apparently due to lack of retail uptake and empathy. This stalling, so early into the price recovery, is galling and brings into question retail commitment to the supply chain, especially as prices are still way below production costs. European markets seem to have little problem with their markets – France +13 eurocents, Denmark +9, Holland +8, and Germany +7, all driven by supply shortage. We can only look enviously at how reactive their markets are, and hope that our market realises that pig supply will not be as plentiful going forward. Europe helped give further impetus to our cull sow price with quotes up 8p. |

Weaner Marketing Summary

| w/c 20/03/22 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| The market remained limited to regular movements, with little to no interest outside these arrangements. The increasing feed costs are dampening any desire and fatteners are more likely to leave sheds empty at the moment. There was insufficient data for the AHDB formulate any prices. |
